EARLY SHOPPING FOR XMAS URGED

Retail Merchants' Association Dwells on Advantages to Be Derived.

STORES WELL STOCKED

Work of Committee Named to Try to Obtain Better Lighting of Streets Commended.

There are twenty-six days to Christmas and the Retail Merchants' Association has gotten down to "brass tacks" in its campaign to keep the buying public advised of the desirability of shopping early for Christmas.

The stocks of the Washington stores are now at their best in comprehensiveness of assortment and individuality of display. Full lines are shown by all the stores. The public is waking up to the fact that it is desirable to make early selection of Christmas gifts. Recipients are especially appreciative where individuality is shown by the giver rather than a haphazard last-minute selection that may hit or miss in its appeal on Christmas morn.

It is the constant aim of Washington merchants to satisfy their customers, and the proprietors and managers of local stores never were better prepared to do that very thing than now. Shopping at present can be made a delightful experience. The retail merchants of Washington have expended thousands of dollars in beautifying their establishments, which is made patent to all in the beautiful offerings which have been had during the month.

Efficiency is the watchword among the members of the Retail Merchants' Association. The stores regard themselves as the servants of the public and aim to please in all respects. The shopping public can best be satisfied if it shops early for Xmas. The association has ordered 100 "Shop Early for Xmas" pennants, which will be distributed to members of the association, beginning tomorrow morning, for use on their delivery wagons and cars. These pennants are nine by twenty-five inches in size, and of red felt, with white lettering.

Members of the Retail Merchants' Association were greatly interested in the activities of the special committee representing the association at a hearing before the District Commissioners Tuesday morning, November 19, when the Commissioners were strongly urged to take immediate steps for the better lighting of the streets in the heart of the business district—from Pennsylvania Avenue to New York Avenue inclusive, and from Seventh to Fifteenth Streets.

The Committee, through oral argument and letters, pointed out to the District Commissioners that there is need for more light in the section indicated. With the great growth of the National Capital the downtown section is more and more becoming the rendezvous of the public, not only in the day time but in the evening as well. This condition is lamented about by the very equitable climate that Washington enjoys, bringing many to the downtown sections for promenade, and from the fact that in the section from which lighting improvements are asked there are a great many activities in the evenings that attract large numbers of people.

It is declared to be a matter of concern to the citizens of Washington generally that the streets in the heart of the city are not better lighted, and it is expected that the District Commissioners will take early and practical cognizance of this need.

The monthly report of Secretary Charles J. Columbus on the operations of the Retail Merchants' Association, which reached the members during the week, has been heartily commended by the business men. It is announced that the credit and collection bureau has made formidable strides and is a permanent feature of the organization. The monthly reports of the association to its members are brimful of detailed information of each phase of the organization's activities, and are destined to be much appreciated by the membership at large.

Special effort is being made to encourage the establishment of the proposed government armor plant in, or adjacent to, the District of Columbia. Its establishment there would not only be a distinct advantage to the government, but to the city of Washington as well, with the consequent outlay of thousands of dollars annually for the maintenance of the plant.

ARCHITECT TO BE SELECTED.

Plans for Y. W. C. A. Building Have Been Submitted.

An architect for the new Y. W. C. A. building, to be erected at Thirtieth and J Streets Northwest, will be selected early this week. It is expected, by the directors of the association, "Five architects have submitted plans, which have been turned over to the directors. Three hundred thousand dollars will be paid for the building, which, it is claimed, will be one of the handsomest Association buildings in the United States. Louis Simon, Nathan Wyeth, Miss Grace L. Temple, Miss Blanche Gentry and Donn Barber compose the board which will select the plan to be used.

Currency Bills to Be Printed.

GIRLS MUST UNDERGO HORSEPOWER TESTS

Printers' Assistants at Bureau of Engraving and Printing to Stand Rigid Examination.

Girls who work as printers' assistants at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing are to be measured in terms of horsepower, Director Joseph E. Ralph said yesterday, in explaining the investigation of sanitary conditions at the bureau by Dr. Benjamin S. Warren, of the Public Health Service, and physicians of the Civil Service Commission.

"It's hard work to be a printer's assistant," said Mr. Ralph. "There is severe physical stress upon workers. If they are not healthy and strong, the work is too much for them. We must have horsepower."

As a result of the investigation, there will be incorporated in the civil service laws a physical examination to determine the fitness of applicants to serve as printers' assistants, it is believed.

Nearly all of the 500 girl printers' assistants at the bureau are physically capable to perform their duties. But there have been cases, according to Mr. Ralph, where unhealthy girls have been injured seriously by trying to perform the arduous duties which require the strength of the feet most of the day.

Employees of less than average strength burden the stronger employees, according to the bureau officials. A part of the examination, which it is believed will be instituted, will be to examine lungs of applicants in order to guard against the menace of tuberculosis among the girls.

ORNITHOLOGIST BRAVES ICE AND SNOW ON TRIP

W. E. C. Todd, of Carnegie Museum, Returns from Perilous Northern Journey—Many Hardships.

VALUABLE SPECIMENS SECURED

W. E. C. Todd, curator of ornithology, at the Carnegie Museum at Pittsburgh, the first man to take a complete survey of the east coast of Hudson Bay for the purpose of plotting the bird and animal life there, now is in Washington to compare a collection of South American birds, owned by the Carnegie Institute, with the National Museum collection. He tells a story of many hardships on his trip to the far north. For miles he walked over the snow and frozen ground, with his bare feet sticking through his worn-out boot soles, in effort to reach civilization before his supply of food gave out. But two meals remained when he and his companions finally reached a habitation.

Notwithstanding the many difficulties he encountered, Mr. Todd is planning another expedition to the Hudson Bay for next year. While in Washington he submitted his records to the National Geographic Society. The members of the Carnegie Museum expedition, besides Mr. Todd were Alfred S. Peble, a brother of Edward A. Peble, of the United States Biological Survey, and C. H. M. Barrett, who has since become connected with the Biological Survey in Washington. They started for the Hudson Bay coun-
